

Education Volunteers

Why we want you

We are an environmental education and nature conservation charity based in east Somerset. The extensive habitats we've created and our location, adjacent to a working landfill site, provide a unique set of opportunities for life-changing educational experiences.

Carymoor is looking to recruit long term volunteers to work alongside our education team. Whether you're just starting out and want to get into environmental education or have years of teaching experience, Carymoor Environmental Trust would love to hear from you.

What's in it for you?

We can provide a broad experience of environmental education both at our site and at schools across Somerset and the region. Carymoor is an inspiring venue to work from and we have a varied programme covering sustainability and wildlife themes. If you'd like to contribute to a small charity trying to make a big difference, get in touch and join our friendly and professional team.

The skills you need

Enthusiasm is essential, as is an ability to work with people from a range of ages and backgrounds. If you're reliable, friendly and have a passion for environmental issues then we'd like to hear from you. Previous experience is not necessary but some level of education in a relevant environmental subject would be an advantage. This volunteer role may be subject to a satisfactory Criminal Records Check.

Interested?

If you are interested please send your CV and a cover letter to Rupert Farthing (Chief Executive) at rupert.farthing@carymoor.org.uk or phone 01963 350143 for more information.

Please note that some volunteer roles are subject to a satisfactory Criminal Records Check.
