

Gardening Volunteers

Why we want you

We require volunteer help in the maintenance and development of the Visitor Centre plant collections and gardens. Our key garden features are:

- One of the largest wildflower collections in UK, incl. a Tree Trail with most of Britain's native trees.
- Demonstration vegetable patch
- Sensory Garden
- Willow Walk, with over 200 varieties
- Native variety orchard

These collections are still in their early stages providing scope for volunteers to shape their future development.

What's in it for you?

Growing plants! If gardening is your thing, Carymoor can offer a wide range of opportunities to explore your passion for plants, opportunities to build up skills, and be part of a vibrant visitor centre. You will learn about British wildflower cultivation and conservation; growing plants and trees for planting out as part of Carymoor's wildlife projects; and have ample opportunities for growing food.

The skills you need

Of course enthusiasm and interest in gardening are essential. Otherwise, you are welcome to work in a small area of interest, or encompass the whole lot, including education and community; and anything in-between!

Interested?

If you would like to discuss the opportunity further please contact Neil Gemmell by e-mail at neil.gemmell@carymoor.org.uk or by phone on 01963 350143.

Please note that some volunteer roles are subject to a satisfactory Criminal Records Check.
